

cognita develops the issue and media monitoring software blueReport which collects relevant information from all types of media: online news sites, social media, newspapers, radio and TV. The state-of-the-art SaaS platform is continually improved by our development team. Our customers include leading corporations, organizations and media and communication agencies across Europe.

To extend our development team in Berlin immediately we are looking for a full time

Ruby Full Stack Developer (m/f)

What you will do

- ▶ You collaborate with the team to bring new product ideas from brainstorming to deployment
- ▶ You will bring our products to the next level and improve it continuously with the latest technology
- ▶ You are part of an agile development team in Berlin where your contribution makes a difference and can have a big impact

What you bring to the team

- ▶ Your proven track record with Ruby, Ruby on Rails, databases (e.g. Postgresql, Elasticsearch, Redis) and Javascript (or TypeScript) boost the product from the very first day
- ▶ Software and database architecture is part of your professional background
- ▶ You work well in a team and you are also able to finish projects on your own
- ▶ You are a great communicator, fluent in English (German is a plus) and you enable your team to find optimal and practicable solutions by actively participating in team discussions
- ▶ With your experience and your strong eye for detail, you find the balance between pragmatism and perfectionism
- ▶ You are familiar with agile development (Scrum)
- ▶ Experience with React, Android and iOS App development and AWS is a plus

Who we are

- ▶ We are a straightforward and talented development team in a fast-growing company
- ▶ We continually learn from each other due to varied backgrounds and interests
- ▶ We mainly use Ruby and TypeScript, but also run JRuby and JavaScript in production
- ▶ Great office in Berlin Mitte, well connected to public transportation
- ▶ Flexible working hours, no micromanagement, flat hierarchy and of course drinks, fruit & vegetables
